

Yes, National Pizza Month was October, but because we seem to be a month off this year, let's celebrate NOW. This observance began in October 1984, and was created by Gerry Durnell, the publisher of Pizza Today magazine. Some people observe National pizza month by consuming various types of pizzas or pizza slices or going to various pizzerias. During the month, some pizzerias give away free pizzas or pizza slices to customers or offer reduced-price promotions. Some businesses run fundraising drives, donating proceeds of pizza sales to benefit various organizations or charities. Some pizzerias create unique pizzas that they don't routinely offer. For example, Mamma Mia! Pizza Kitchen in Levelland, Texas created a pizza prepared with rattlesnake meat in 2009 to celebrate the month. (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/National_Pizza_Month)

We're going to celebrate pizza in fabric. Use your choice of a pieced 9-Patch (representing a deep dish pizza) or Fan pattern (representing thin crust pizza). Decorate with your favorite toppings (yoyo) pepperoni; round rings for onions; green/red/yellow pieces for peppers; let your imagination go wild! All blocks should be 12 ½" unfinished. (Use 4 fans to make a full 12 ½ inch pizza.)
